About This Resource

The Sex Trafficking in Indian Country: Victim/Survivor Resource Book (Resource Book) is intended to provide Tribal Coalitions with basic information on sex trafficking as it impacts Native people and to provide access to direct services that may assist victims/survivors of sex trafficking.

The need for this resource became evident when a Native victim/survivor from a tribal community attempted to escape her abuser and requested help from tribal advocates. The victim/survivor needed to relocate to another community thousands of miles away. So, the advocates needed to immediately locate resources and services needed: transportation, overnight lodgings along the route, food and snacks for her children, and clothing for her and her children.

Once those immediate resources were identified, the advocates realized the victim/survivor would still need lodging, legal assistance, and other support services upon her arrival at the final destination. Because the victim/survivor was relocating outside the advocate's service region and network—into an area where no tribal resources were available, the task seemed daunting. It quickly became evident that there was no single resource available to the advocates to sufficiently help this victim/survivor. The advocates reached out to their Tribal Coalition for assistance in identifying, locating, and coordinating the services needed for their client—services that would span many states.

Because the situation outlined in the preceding text is not uncommon for tribal advocates and Tribal Coalitions serving Native victims/survivors, the primary goal of this Resource Book is to provide an extensive list of holistic resources and services for victims/survivors. Each state with a Tribal Coalition is included in this Resource Book, seventeen states in total. E-copies of this Resource Book are available through the Tribal Coalitions website: www.TribalCoalitions.org.

The resources included here are the result of many hours of research and work from many TLPI staff, clerks, and interns. We would like to acknowledge and thank the following individuals for their invaluable contributions to this final resource: Simone Anter, Paul Castillo, Chantal Cong-Huyen, Ashleigh McCurchin, Erica McMilin, Natasha Roland, April Russell, Geneva Thompson, and Olivia Young.

Section 1: Sex Trafficking of Native People

Sex Trafficking in Indian Country

Today, there are 567 federally recognized tribes speaking more than 250 languages and maintaining separate cultures, customs, and histories.<sup>1</sup> The sex trafficking of Native American women/girls in urban areas and Indian country<sup>2</sup> is disproportionately high as compared to the rest of the populations. For instance, the wide-range impact of a large population influx due to the oil fracking industries in North Dakota and Montana resulted in tribal victim service providers reporting a doubling and tripling of the numbers of sexual assaults, domestic violence, and human trafficking incidents since 2008.<sup>3</sup> However, according to the latest data<sup>4</sup> and anecdotal evidence, Alaska is perhaps experiencing the highest rates of Native sex trafficking victimization in the nation.<sup>5</sup>

Sex Trafficking Elements

While each jurisdiction may have varying definitions, sex trafficking generally occurs when a commercial sex act is induced by force, fraud, or coercion or in a situation in which the person induced to perform such an act is under the age of eighteen years of age.<sup>6</sup> A commercial sex act can usually consist of any sex act(s) exchanged for food, shelter, money, or anything of value. Sex trafficking does not typically require the movement or transport of a victim.<sup>7</sup>

Sex traffickers frequently subject their victims to debt-bondage, an illegal practice in which the traffickers tell their victims that they owe money (often relating to the victims' living expenses)

<sup>2</sup> "Indian Country" is defined in 18 U.S.C.A. § 1151 (1948) (categorizing Indian country as: (a) all land within the limits of a reservation, (b) all dependent Indian communities, and (c) all Indian allotments, the title which has not been extinguished).

<sup>4</sup> Complicating this data is the fact that Alaska enacted a very broad antitrafficking law that resulted in Native people that would have previously been charged with prostitution instead being charged with trafficking.

and that they must pledge their personal services to repay the debt.<sup>8</sup> Sex traffickers use a variety of methods to “condition” or manipulate and influence their victims including starvation, confinement, beatings, physical abuse, rape, gang rape, threats of violence to the victims and the victims’ families, forced drug use, and the threat of shaming their victims by revealing their activities to their family and their families’ friends.<sup>9</sup>

Facts and Myths of Sex Trafficking

There is an unfortunate lack of reliable data on the problem of sex trafficking in Indian country. This lack of reliable data is tied to the limited amount of methodologically sound research, articles, and reports on the topic. As a result, many claims regarding sex trafficking are based on very limited information and should be understood within the context of their limitations. However, despite limited data, there are several “facts” that can be taken at face value and are helpful to keep in mind as long as the reader understands that they may not be applicable in every community. This short section will highlight some of those facts and will also address several myths about sex trafficking.

Sex trafficking operations are not always secretive and may take place in a variety of public venues including fake massage businesses; through escort services and residential brothels; and at truck stops, hotels, motels, casinos, spas, strip clubs, and other fronts for prostitution.<sup>10</sup> Victims may start off dancing or stripping in clubs and then be coerced into prostitution by a trafficker.<sup>11</sup>

The threat of prosecution for participation in sex industries can further traumatize victims/survivors of sex trafficking as well as leave them with a profound distrust of law enforcement, all of which can prevent them from seeking future assistance.<sup>12</sup> Furthermore, the criminal record that results from being convicted can act as a barrier to future employment, housing, and other opportunities.<sup>13</sup>

<sup>13</sup> Id. at 81 (discussing how some survey participants said “that they couldn’t leave the [sex trade] because of criminal convictions or pending criminal charges prevented them from obtaining other employment” and “[i]ronically, these convictions included prostitution charges”).

A common misconception is that sex trafficking is a new problem in tribal communities. However, colonists targeted Native women for rape, kidnapping, and trafficking since before the formation of the United States as nation. Colonial leaders argued that their men were simply yielding to temptation and assigned no moral or religious consequences to the perpetrators.<sup>14</sup> The National Human Trafficking Resource Center lists some other myths and misconceptions related to human trafficking, which includes both labor and sex trafficking:<sup>15</sup>

- Myth 1: Trafficked persons can only be foreign nationals or are only immigrants from other countries. Fact: The federal definition of human trafficking includes both U.S. citizens and foreign nationals.
- Myth 2: Human trafficking is essentially a crime that must involve some form of travel, transportation, or movement across state or national borders. Fact: Trafficking does not require transportation.
- Myth 3: Human trafficking is another term for human smuggling. Fact: Smuggling is a crime against a country's borders. Human trafficking is a crime against a person.
- Myth 4: There must be elements of physical restraint, physical force, or physical bondage when identifying a human trafficking situation. Fact: Trafficking does not require physical restraint, bodily harm, or physical force.
- Myth 5: Victims of human trafficking will immediately ask for help or assistance and will self-identify as a victim of crime. Fact: Victims of human trafficking often do not immediately seek help or self-identify as victims of crime.
- Myth 6: Human trafficking victims always come from situations of poverty or from small rural villages. Fact: Although poverty can be a factor in human trafficking because poverty is an indicator of vulnerability, poverty alone is not a single causal factor or a universal indicator of a human trafficking victim.
- Myth 7: Sex trafficking is the only form of human trafficking. Fact: The federal definition includes both sex trafficking and labor trafficking.
- Myth 8: Human trafficking only occurs in illegal underground industries. Fact: Trafficking can occur in legal and legitimate business settings as well as underground markets.
- Myth 9: If the trafficked person consented to be in their initial situation or was informed about what type of labor they would be doing or that commercial sex would be involved, then it cannot be human trafficking or against their will because they knew better. Fact: Initial consent to commercial sex or a labor setting prior to acts of force, fraud, or coercion (or if the victim is a minor in a sex trafficking situation) is not relevant to the crime, nor is payment.
- Myth 10: Foreign national trafficking victims are always undocumented immigrants or here in this country illegally. Fact: Not all foreign national victims are undocumented.

Sex Trafficking Risk Factors

While no one factor is determinate that a person will become a victim/survivor of sex trafficking, certain risk factors have been identified as indicators of vulnerability to sex trafficking, which include individuals that are exposed to child abuse (including child sexual abuse) and neglect, sexual assault, substance abuse, runaways, homelessness, extreme poverty, and those with a cultural disconnect.<sup>16</sup> Additionally, sex traffickers often target vulnerable populations subject to social discrimination such as Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Trans*, Queer/Questioning, Intersex, and Two-Spirit (LGBTQ/2) individuals.<sup>17</sup>

While many characteristics are shared by other domestic sex trafficking victims/survivors, the risk factors for Native Americans come together in a “perfect storm,” rendering Native women and girls particularly vulnerable to the crime.<sup>18</sup> Native American women and girls’ sex trafficking risk factors include highest rates of physical and sexual violence in the United States,<sup>19</sup> sexual assaults at an early age,<sup>20</sup> drug and alcohol abuse,<sup>21</sup> and generational trauma.<sup>22</sup>

The Department of Justice has acknowledged that the overrepresentation of Native American women among sex trafficking victims is a national problem.<sup>23</sup> In order to grasp the context of this issue, one must recall that Native Americans have been subject to war, conquest, rape, and genocide, and were disconnected from their land.<sup>24</sup> The sexual exploitation and trafficking of Native American women and girls occurs at disproportionate rates. In 2011, The Garden of Truth: The Prostitution and Trafficking of Native Women in Minnesota (“The Minnesota Report”) was published and found that 85 percent of the women and girls trafficked in Minnesota were Native and concluded that gangs in the area specifically targeted Native girls because traffickers can represent Native girls as many different ethnicities, thus enhancing their “marketability.”<sup>25</sup>

Section 2: Examining the Intersections between Domestic Violence and Sex Trafficking

Because advocates working at domestic violence programs may encounter victims/survivors of sex trafficking presenting as a victim/survivor of domestic violence, it is critical that advocates understand nuances of both (sometimes co-occurring) forms of victimization in order to better identify and appropriately respond to trafficking victims/survivors. Victim-centered advocacy, confidentiality, and safety must be the foremost priorities to advocates and are critical to working with both domestic violence victims/survivors as well as victims/survivors of sex trafficking.<sup>26</sup>

“Victims/survivors may experience multiple sexual assaults by clients—victims/survivors often find these experiences difficult to talk about. Consider the sex trafficking victim who is forced by her perpetrator to have sex with his friends or gang members. The feelings of shame and stigma that are common in sexual assault cases are often compounded for those who are, or once were, part of the sex industry and fear moral condemnation by the justice system or society at large. . . . Although advocates are accustomed to working with legal and social service systems, working with sex trafficked persons challenges the way advocates typically interact with systems and collaborate with other agencies or providers.”<sup>27</sup>

Sex traffickers may also have children with their victims/survivors. Additionally, the trafficker may have threatened to or may have already used physical abuse as a mechanism to control and coerce the victim/survivor. Threats and physical abuse may also enforce silence when the victim/survivor comes into contact with the justice system.<sup>28</sup> Emotional harm can also be just as damaging to a victim as physical violence. For example, threatening to “out” an LGBTQ/2 individual to their community or family may mean the loss of social and economic support.<sup>29</sup> Furthermore, a trafficker who threatens to, or actually discloses a person’s engagement (forced or otherwise) in the sex industry may put that person at risk of losing their children or exacerbate emotional and economic instability, while continuing to tighten their power and control over that victim/survivor’s life.

For those encountering victims/survivors of trafficking through the justice system, remember that the dynamics of control and coercion may affect their ability to use legal system resources effectively. Even if an individual was coerced, that does not necessarily reduce the real or perceived blaming and stigma associated with sex trafficking. This results in sex trafficking victims/survivors being vulnerable to further trauma and less likely to seek help, especially from justice system participants whom they do not know or trust.<sup>30</sup>

Finally, it is very important that victims/survivors of sex trafficking understand all of their available legal and resource options, including possible immigration relief. In addition to possible access to public benefits, federal laws have several helpful options for those facing immigration issues, such as the T-visa for victims of trafficking and the U-visa for victims of designated crimes, including some that often happen in the context of sex trafficking.<sup>31</sup>

Section 3: Screening and Safety Concerns for Native Victims/Survivors

Screening Tools

Screening tools are usually intended to be used as part of a regular intake process or as part of enrollment for specific programs. Because each agency's intake process is unique, agencies should determine how to best integrate screening tools with their other intake forms or procedures and screening timing may vary by discipline. In order for the results to be valid, the screening should be administered according to prearranged protocols, whether or not the client is believed to be a victim/survivor of sex trafficking. Currently, there is no tribal-specific sex trafficking screening tool in place. However, screening tools usually focus on information to address issues such as:

- Setting up the client interview;
- Developing client trust;
- Demonstrating respect;
- Maintaining client confidentiality; and
- Understanding effects of trauma and victimization.

Screening tools may also include additional resources such as sample questions for the victim/survivor's use.<sup>32</sup> It is very important to never begin by asking directly whether the person has been beaten or held against their will.<sup>33</sup>

Keep in mind that the trauma caused by a sex trafficker(s) can be so great that people may not identify themselves as victims or seek help.<sup>34</sup> Other barriers to requesting help are language barriers, fear of the trafficker(s), and/or fear of law enforcement. Whatever the timing and context of the interview, interviewers should begin and end with comfortable topics of conversation to minimize the client's discomfort.

Safety Concerns

Victims/survivors are usually the best judges of the dangers their abuser(s) pose to them. However, an advocate can help a victim/survivor assess the risk and develop a practical plan to stay safe—a safety plan. A safety plan is a plan that identifies ways a person can protect themselves during a violent incident and reduce the risk of serious harm.<sup>35</sup> It is crucial that the victim advocate does not blame the victim/ survivor.<sup>36</sup> While evaluating risks and creating safety plans can help a victim/survivor, safety planning is not a guarantee that they will not be injured again.

The victim/survivor can then follow the plan if they are in immediate danger or leave (if possible) to preserve their safety. When working with a victim/survivor on the issue of safety, an advocate must discuss whether the victim/survivor plans to stay at their current location or intends to leave. If the person wishes to stay at their current location, they should prepare a safety plan to protect the individual if an incident occurs in order to increase their chances of avoiding injury or death.

An advocate must help a victim/survivor make other arrangements if they plan to leave. Relevant questions such as “Do they have money?,” “Is there a safe place they can stay?,” and “Have they considered that their trafficker may look for them?” are all important questions that should be asked. An advocate must also discuss different approaches with a victim/survivor because they may change their mind before fully implementing any safety plan.

Section 4: Meeting the Nonlegal Needs of Native Victims/Survivors

Types of Nonlegal Needs

The situations that sex trafficking victims/survivors face vary dramatically and the services offered to victims/survivors of sex trafficking will vary greatly across the United States and from one tribal community to another. Sex trafficking victims/survivors may require several emergency and long-term nonlegal services, which may include:

- Emergency response in life-threatening situations;
- Information;
- Access to safety;
- Crisis and support counseling;
- Victim advocacy;
- Shelter/housing;
- Food;
- Clothing;
- Medical care;
- Mental health treatment;
- Substance abuse treatment;
- Support groups;
- Interpretation/translation services;
- Legal assistance;
- Job training services; and
- Resources for the victim/survivor's children.

Services may also be needed to address issues such as:

- Drug and alcohol addiction;
- Physical injuries (broken bones, concussions, burns, etc.);
- Traumatic brain injury resulting in memory loss, dizziness, headaches, and/or numbness;
- Sexually transmitted infections (e.g., HIV/AIDS, gonorrhea, syphilis);
- Sterility, miscarriages, or menstrual problems;
- Forced or coerced abortions; and/or
- Posttraumatic stress disorder.

Victim/survivor assistance may also be provided by system-based victim/witness coordinators and victim specialists housed within federal agencies such as the Department of Justice's U.S.

Attorneys' Offices and the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI).<sup>37</sup> Victims/survivors of sex trafficking are also regularly identified and served by individuals working with related vulnerable populations such as child welfare systems, runaway and homeless youth programs, and domestic violence shelters.

Victims/survivors of sex trafficking from tribal communities may face unique challenges in accessing resources or seeking justice to address their victimization due to historical trauma, cultural issues, and Indian country jurisdictional issues. Generally, Tribal Coalitions are a good point of first contact in exploring available services for sex trafficking victims in Indian country.<sup>38</sup>

Section 5: Meeting the Legal Needs of Native Victims/Survivors

Sex trafficking is a crime in many jurisdictions; there are federal, state, and tribal trafficking laws that govern sex trafficking crimes. Aside from the complicated jurisdictional issues—determining which government is able to prosecute traffickers—victims/survivors of trafficking face a variety of legal challenges. For example, trafficking victims/survivors are vulnerable to prosecution under laws against prostitution and related crimes. While it is outside the scope of this resource to discuss the full breadth of legal issues,<sup>39</sup> this section will briefly flag some of the legal needs a trafficking victim/survivor may have. Advocates and others using this resource are encouraged to use other resources in order to learn more about the legal issues of sex trafficking in Indian country.

Types of Legal Needs

Generally speaking, sex trafficking victims/survivors will face legal issues similar to those faced by individuals that have experience domestic violence and sexual assault and will have many of the same legal needs, including assistance with:

- Civil cases;<sup>40</sup>
- Criminal cases;<sup>41</sup>
- Protection orders;<sup>42</sup>
- Child custody issues;
- Court testimony;
- Legal advocacy; and/or
- Victim's rights issues.

In addition, sex trafficking victims/survivors may face specific legal issues related to their involvement in the sex industry and may need assistance with:

- Criminal defense;
- Expungements;
- Housing;
- Access to education; and/or
- Child welfare systems.

Additionally, a victim/survivor of sex trafficking that has not been charged with a crime may have certain victim's rights that afford protection in the event that the perpetrator has been charged with a crime.

Additional Legal Issues for Minors

On average, Native people are more likely to enter the sex industry, specifically prostitution, as minors.<sup>43</sup> These minors may have been abducted; others are at-risk youth, orphans, or runaways lured by traffickers who promise them security and a place to stay.<sup>44</sup> Minors may be trafficked by caregivers, intimate partners, or others who use violence, threats, debt bondage, and other manipulative tactics to victimize children.<sup>45</sup> Minors are not always treated as victims under criminal law, but many are treated as criminals and are prosecuted accordingly.<sup>46</sup> Recently, the trend among states is to enact "Safe Harbor Laws" that prevent the prosecution of minors for prostitution and related crimes based on the theory that minors cannot consent and should be treated as victims under criminal laws.

Sex trafficking of a minor often touches a variety of legal systems in both governmental and nongovernmental sectors—from the initial identification of a case to legal advocacy on behalf of a child trafficking victim/survivor. In addition to the legal concerns for adult victims/survivors of trafficking discussed in the preceding text; advocates should take the time to learn how the age of a minor interacts with local criminal laws related to trafficking and prostitution and look into safe harbor laws of the local government.

Appendix A: Additional Suggested Readings

Sex Trafficking in Indian Country: Legal Issues: www.Home.TLPI.org/publications

A curriculum that provides a comprehensive overview of tribal, federal, and state laws related to sex trafficking. “Designed for use by the Tribal Coalitions and tribal victim/survivor advocates. The purpose of the curriculum is to empower Tribal Coalitions and tribal advocates to train their staff and volunteers on advanced legal issues related to sex trafficking in Indian country. Once trained, the advocates can then teach others in tribal communities to identify and respond to the legal issues of sex trafficking with a victim-centered approach.”

This report is one of the only comprehensive reports detailing the sexual exploitation of American Indian women and girls. With a focus on Minnesota the report includes, but is not limited to, sex trafficking. This resource provides a valuable, Native-specific view of the issues surrounding sex trafficking.

Garden of Truth: The Prostitution and Trafficking of Native Women in Minnesota:
http://www.prostitutionresearch.com/pdfs/Garden\_of\_Truth\_Final\_Project\_WEB.pdf

Through interviews with 105 Native women in prostitution in Minnesota, this report assesses the specific needs of Native women and the extent to which these needs are not being met. Personal stories and accounts punctuate this report for an impactful account Native women in prostitution, and it provides valuable information for drafters of sex trafficking statutes and how they can better meet these needs.

Relocation Revisited: Sex Trafficking of Native Women in the United States:
<http://open.mitchellhamline.edu/cgi/viewcontent.cgi?article=1157&context=facsch>

This article discusses the historical and legal context of sex trafficking as it originated amongst the colonial predecessors of the United States. Specifically, the article uses this history to situate Native women’s experiences that include “generations of enslavement, exploitation, exportation, and relocation” and show that sex trafficking is an ongoing issue in the United States.

The Alaska Temporary Assistance Program (ATAP) provides cash assistance and work services to low-income families with children to help them with basic needs while they work toward becoming self-sufficient. This program is provided under the federal Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) block grant. "ATAP changed the traditional focus of the state's public assistance program for needy families to an employment-focused program from an entitlement under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program. Temporary Assistance stresses family self-sufficiency through employment." The program: Imposes a 60-month lifetime limit on assistance; limits additional assistance for second parents, and reduces benefits for two-parent families during July, August, and September when there are better opportunities for employment; requires families to complete a Family Self-Sufficiency Plan, identify self-sufficiency goals and work or participate in activities that will move them toward those goals; requires cooperation with the Child Support Services Division in establishing paternity for the children, locating the absent parent, and collecting any child support the absent parent is responsible for paying; and prohibits making purchases with or accessing cash benefits on EBT cards at any ATMs that are located in bars, liquor stores, and gambling or adult entertainment establishments.

Basic needs include shelter, utilities, food, and clothing. Limited funds for a dignified burial of a deceased needy person may also be provided. The GRA program is 100% state funded. Because state funds are limited, the program is used as a last resort in providing basic needs to an individual or household. GRA is only available if a household's emergency need cannot be met by any other programs or agencies. Except for burial assistance, payment is limited to a maximum of $120 for each household member. Payments are always provided to a vendor; they are never provided directly to the GRA household. Clients Served: Individuals and families who meet eligibility requirements: the household must have an immediate and specific need for shelter (eviction notice), utilities (shut off notice), food, clothing, or burial. The person must be an adult or eligible minor. Persons under the age of 18 may apply for GRA if they are married or living apart from their parent and managing their own financial affairs.

Basic needs include shelter, utilities, food, and clothing. Limited funds for a dignified burial of a deceased needy person may also be provided. The GRA program m is 100% state funded. Because state funds are limited, the program is used as a last resort in providing basic needs to an individual or household. GRA is only available if a household's emergency need cannot be met by any other programs or agencies. Except for burial assistance, payment is limited to a maximum of $120 for each household member. Payments are always provided to a vendor; they are never provided directly to the GRA household. Clients Served: Individuals and families who meet eligibility requirements: The household must have an immediate and specific need for shelter (eviction notice), utilities (shut off notice), food, clothing, or burial. The person must be an adult or eligible minor. Persons under the age of 18 may apply for GRA if they are married or living apart from their parent and managing their own financial affairs.

CalWORKs

Various locations based on county can be found here

<http://www.tanf.us/california.html>

California's state version of the TANF program- cash aid program for low income families to meet their basic needs. It also provides education, employment, and training programs to help families get jobs and move towards self-sufficiency. Child care, transportation, work expenses and counseling are available for families in work activities.

California TANF Eligibility Requirements

- You must be a US Citizen.
- Children must be citizens or have eligible alien status.
- You must have a social security number.
- Your family must earn less than a certain amount of money per month
- Children must be 18 years old or younger. If you are older than 18, you must be a full time student with an expected graduation date before the age of 20. - Families must have a child under 18 living in the home.
- Pregnant women are eligible for TANF during the month before their due date.

TANF funds are used to fund a wide variety of services that are not considered cash assistance. These services include child care, transportation, mental health counseling, child abuse prevention and early intervention, etc.

Medi-Cal is automatically issued to everyone receiving CalWORKs. Doctor, hospital and dental bills, as well as, medicine, glasses and other medical needs may be paid for within the limitations of the Medi-Cal program.

Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP)

2389 Gateway Oaks, Suite 100
Sacramento, CA 95833

Phone: (916) 576-7109

<http://www.csd.ca.gov/Services/HelpPayingUtilityBills.aspx>

Eligible low-income persons, via local governmental and nonprofit organizations, can receive financial assistance to offset the costs of heating and/or cooling dwellings, and/or have their dwellings weatherized to make them more energy efficient.

The Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP) provides one-time financial assistance to help offset an eligible household's energy costs (utility bill).

The Energy Crisis Intervention Program (ECIP) provides assistance to low-income households that are in a crisis situation. Examples include a household that has received a 24- to 48-hour disconnect notice or service termination by its utility company or a household facing an energy-related crisis of life-threatening emergency in the applicant's household, including a combustible appliance.

In order to qualify for this benefit program, you must be a resident of the state of California, you must need financial assistance for home energy costs.

In order to qualify, you must also have an annual household income (before taxes) that is below 60 percent of the State Median Income: i.e. household size=1, maximum income level= $25,103.

A person who participates or has family members who participate in certain other benefit programs, such as the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), Supplemental Security Income (SSI), Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) or certain needs-tested Veterans benefits may be automatically eligible.

Clients Served: Those that meet income eligibility requirements above.

Tribal Coalitions Information

Native Women's Coalition

Founded in 2008, the Native Women's Coalition (NWC) serves all Native women residing in the service area of southern Idaho. The NWC has an office in Boise and a field office in Blackfoot which borders the Ft. Hall Indian reservation. Their mission is to provide safety to all Native women in rural, urban off reservation and reservation communities. The Coalition provide education and training to Native and non-Native service providers so that they can better assure that Native-women victims and their dependents receive the "culturally appropriate" services that they need to heal.

“CEAP, Community Emergency Assistance Programs, was founded in 1970 as a food shelf responding to the growing need for human services in Brooklyn Center and Brooklyn Park, Minnesota. CEAP now serves Northwest Hennepin and Anoka Counties. CEAP empowers our neighbors in need by providing basic needs and personalized support to help them establish their path to stability and independence.”

“Today, CEAP’s Family Services department not only provides food support but includes resource referrals so families can connect with partner agencies and services that may be able to help. Through our successful Family Service department, we help thousands of men, women, and children get back on their feet every year. Our food and financial assistance gives families support. Our additional programs give them independence.”

Most often, the people we help are facing loss of heat or lights in their home due to reasons beyond their control, and they have no resources to pay their bill themselves. Because Energy Share is a private non-profit organization, and not a government program, they have some flexibility outside of the established federal poverty guidelines with who they can help. A big difference between Energy Share and the federally funded energy assistance program (LIEAP) is that every Energy Share application and situation presented within those applications is considered individually. We consider income, but help people based on the need, the individual situation, and level of emergency. Energy Share is not a yearly subsidy and normally not available more than once every ten years or so depending on the situation. Clients Served: Residents of Montana who need emergency assistance in paying their energy bills.

Coalition to Stop Violence Against Native Women

The Coalition to Stop Violence Against Native Women (CSVANW) was organized in 1996 to bring together Native advocates working in Indian communities in New Mexico to provide assistance and support to Native women who have been battered or sexually assaulted. The coalition provides a forum for support, organizing, sharing information resources and networking opportunities.

Notes for Advocates and people using this resource:

Sexual Assault Medical Billing Verification and Payment – As of July 1995, the State of New Mexico pays 100% of the forensic medical exam per victim per year on bills resulting from rape exams, evidence collection, or child sexual abuse exams. Up to $150 is paid on medical costs not associated with evidence collection (injury repair, medications, etc.). The Coalition sends packets with billing instructions to medical providers throughout New Mexico on how to obtain these payments. The bills and verification forms are then sent to the Coalition where they are verified for payable services. The verified bills are then paid by the Coalition through a special Division of Mental Health fund.<sup>47</sup>

Our counselors and therapists will work one on one with the women to see them through any current issues as well as past traumatic experiences. Phase two consists of many things purposed to help the women see potential in themselves. Our “Life Skills” class is a hands on time every day of the week for the women to get creative. Different practical and exciting life skills classes such as; cooking, art, music, etc. will enable the women to discover their strengths and pinpoint areas of creativity. This phase will also include classes such as; interview conduct, resume building, financial insight, communication skills, healthy family training, etc. The final phase is currently under construction, but our vision is to acquire a residency in Albuquerque that will house the women as they are introduced into reality on a day-to-day basis. They will then be required to begin working and supporting themselves by means of rent, groceries and household needs. This home will be provided for the women as a safe and stable way of reintroducing themselves into a healthy way of life as a survivor. Clients Served: “Working with specifically sex trafficked, prostituted, and exploited women.” Ages 18+. They DO NOT serve Trans* people.

Attorney and advocate legal services. “The Community Justice Project is a statewide legal service for survivors of sexual violence. Legal Advocates are co-located at rape crisis centers or SANE units throughout the state. Legal Advocates may be lawyers or non-lawyers working with supervision by lawyers. The project offers a wide range of legal services with primary emphasis on housing, employment, safety planning, public benefits, education rights, and privacy rights representation. The project draws upon partner agencies’ expertise in specific areas of law and client service. The project also draws upon the expertise of local attorneys who serve clients at a “low bono” rate, that is, a rate below the market rate for attorney hourly fees. In addition to direct services to individual survivors, the Project provides technical assistance on legal matters for the Coalition and its member agencies, as well as for some Sexual Assault Coordinators.”

Clients Served: Victims and survivors of sexual assault.

Tribal Coalitions Information

Native Alliance Against Violence

Created in 2009, the Native Alliance Against Violence (NAAV), is a non-profit organization operating as Oklahoma's only tribal domestic violence and sexual assault. The NAAV serves Oklahoma's federally recognized tribes and their tribal programs that provide victims with the protection they need to pursue safe and healthy lives.

Through the spirit of respect and cooperation, the NAAV will strive to unify Tribal service programs throughout Oklahoma by providing culturally appropriate technical assistance, training and support to eliminate domestic violence, sexual assault, and dating violence to restore balance and safety for Native communities.

The Family Employment Program (FEP) offers help with money and finding jobs to parents who are supporting children living in their home. The goal of FEP is to help the family earn enough money to support themselves on their own by working, by receiving child-support payments, and/or by receiving disability payments. Every parent works with an employment counselor to write an employment plan with activities that will help the parent reach the goal of supporting the family on his or her own. Childcare is available to support employment and employment related activities.

Clients Served:

To qualify to get help from the Family Employment Program (FEP), you must:

- Be a parent with children who are under 18 living in your home who depend on you for their support, or you must be a pregnant woman in her third trimester.
- Cooperate with the rules of Recovery Services. Click here for more information on establishing paternity
- Be willing to help make an employment plan and do the activities it lists. If you are an undocumented alien you will need an employment plan if you apply for the FEP Two Parent program or do not cooperate with establishing paternity for your children.
- View the FEP Orientation video (Spanish version)
- Pass a gross and net income “test.”

Applicants will be required to complete a substance abuse screening questionnaire as part of the eligibility process.

Income Test

You must meet a certain level of poverty to qualify to get help from FEP.

The chart below will help you see if your income is low enough to qualify.

Gross income means your household’s total income each month before any deductions have been made.

Net income means gross income after allowable deductions have been subtracted.

The Family Employment Program (FEP) offers help with money and finding jobs to parents who are supporting children living in their home. The goal of FEP is to help the family earn enough money to support themselves on their own by working, by receiving child-support payments, and/or by receiving disability payments. Every parent works with an employment counselor to write an employment plan with activities that will help the parent reach the goal of supporting the family on his or her own. Childcare is available to support employment and employment related activities.

Clients Served:

To qualify to get help from the Family Employment Program (FEP), you must:

- be a parent with children who are under 18 living in your home who depend on you for their support, or you must be a pregnant woman in her third trimester.
- cooperate with the rules of Recovery Services. Click here for more information on establishing paternity
- be willing to help make an employment plan and do the activities it lists. If you are an undocumented alien you will need an employment plan if you apply for the FEP Two Parent program or do not cooperate with establishing paternity for your children.
- view the FEP Orientation video (spanish version)
- pass a gross and net income “test.”

Applicants will be required to complete a substance abuse screening questionnaire as part of the eligibility process.

Income Test

You must meet a certain level of poverty to qualify to get help from FEP.

Washington

Tribal Coalitions Information

Washington State Native American Coalition Against Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault- WomenSpirit Coalition

Based in Olympia, Washington the WomenSpirit Coalition (WSC) is also known as the Washington State Native American Coalition Against Domestic Violence & Sexual Assault. WSC is one of 18 Tribal Coalitions nationwide providing a voice for Native women, their families, and communities suffering from epidemic rates of sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and sex trafficking. WSC is founded, organized, and staffed by Native women. WSC serves 29 tribes in Washington State. We offer technical assistance, consultation, and training. They provide assistance with program development, proposal review, culturally- based violence prevention and intervention practices, and models of advocacy specific to tribal communities. WSC also provides training on a National level. WSC convenes the Regional WSC Networking meetings (Western & Eastern Region) and the Tribal Law and Justice Advisory Committee (LJAC), promoting the voices of Native survivors and advocates.

Washington Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP) http://www.access.wa.gov/	The Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP) is a non-entitlement program in Washington state. Eligibility is determined using the same rules as Medicaid for children, except with higher income standards. Children who are eligible for Medicaid, or who have any "creditable health coverage", cannot be eligible for CHIP. ("Creditable health coverage" means coverage under a group health plan or other health insurance that provides access to physicians, hospitals, laboratory services, and radiology services).
Washington Head Start and Early Head Start http://www.del.wa.gov/partnerships/head-start/washington.aspx	Head Start is a Federal program that promotes the school readiness of children from birth to age five from low-income families by enhancing their cognitive, social, and emotional development. Head Start programs provide a learning environment that supports children's growth in many areas such as language, literacy, and social and emotional development. Head Start emphasizes the role of parents as their child's first and most important teacher. These programs help build relationships with families that support family well being and many other important areas. Many Head Start programs also provide Early Head Start, which serves infants, toddlers, and pregnant women and their families who have incomes below the Federal poverty level. Clients Served: For this benefit program, you must be a resident of the state of Washington. Children from birth to age five from families with low income, according to the Poverty Guidelines published by the Federal government, are eligible for Head Start and Early Head Start services.

Washington WorkFirst http://www.workfirst.wa.gov/ You may confirm you eligibility and apply online at: https://www.washingtonconnection.org/home/	WorkFirst is Washington State's temporary cash assistance program. The goals of the WorkFirst Program is to help low-income families stabilize their lives, so they can go to work and take better care of their families. Washington initiated the WorkFirst program in August 1997 to help low-income families become self-sufficient by providing training and support services necessary for parents to get a job, keep a job and move up a career ladder. Under WorkFirst, welfare assistance in Washington State is no longer an entitlement. Cash assistance is limited to a maximum of 60 months (five years) in a person's lifetime. During that time, the person must be involved in the WorkFirst program and working or actively looking for a job. However, benefits may be extended beyond 5 years for parents who continue to abide by the rules and seek work. Adults who are unable to participate will continue to receive assistance. Clients Served: Residents of Washington, either pregnant or responsible for a child under 19 years of age, a US national, citizen, legal alien, or permanent resident, have low or very low income, and be either under-employed (working for very low wages), unemployed or about to become unemployed.

Counselors will also help the youth and family develop better ways of dealing with conflict in the future. The goal is to reunite the family and youth wherever possible. The family will also be referred for additional services if other needs are identified.</li> </ul> Clients Served: FRS is a voluntary program serving runaway adolescents, and youth in conflict with their families. The program targets adolescents between the ages of 12 through 17. FRS services are meant to resolve crisis situations and prevent unnecessary out of home placement. They are not long term services. The services will assess and stabilize the family's situation. The goal is to return the family to a pre-crisis state and to work with the family to identify alternative methods of handling similar conflicts. If longer-term service needs are identified, FRS will help facilitate getting the youth and his/her family into on-going services.

In our county, the CASA Program is administered by YWCA Clark County. The CASA volunteer is committed to providing factual information about the situation of children who are involved in the Dependency Court system because they are victims of abuse, neglect, or abandonment. CASA volunteers are appointed by the court to watch over and advocate for abused and neglected children, to make sure they don't get lost in the overburdened legal and social service system or stay in inappropriate group or foster homes. The information and recommendations the CASA volunteer provide to the court assists the court in making crucial decisions about the child's future. Volunteers stay with each case until it is closed and the child is placed in a safe, permanent home. For many abused children, their CASA volunteer will be the one constant adult presence in their lives. Clients Served: Children living in Clark County.

Tribal Health Program is to promote healthy lifestyles, encourage traditional customs for individuals, families, and communication with the Colville Reservation and surrounding areas through education, early intervention and treatment.

Nutrition services include weight management, diabetic counseling, individual nutrition counseling, group presentations, menu writing, exercise information, recipe ideas, computerized nutrition evaluation, handouts.

A Public Health Nurse provides skilled nursing services to individuals and families through referrals from IHS and other Tribal outreach programs. Nursing services include assessment, counseling, teaching and follow-up by way of home visits, individual and group conferences. Also provides direct health education and activities for individuals and groups. Goal is to improve the quality of life and increase the healthy life span of Tribal members. Certified CPR, first Aid and HIV/AIDS trainer.

Maternal Support Services (MSS) through public health nurses and CHR's provide case management and maternity support services to assist Medicaid eligible pregnant women to access medical care and provide preventative health services to promote a healthy birth outcome. Services of a psychosocial worker and dietitian are also available.

Community Health Representatives assist Indian Health Services in delivering health knowledge to help individuals achieve a state of well-being. We do this by providing health education, disease prevention information a by referring clients to the proper resources.

Transportation is provided for eligible clients to medical appointments.

Through a Tobacco Coordinator, multiple educational activities are provided to prevent youth and community from initiating tobacco use. Coalitions of youth volunteers are empowered to be tobacco control advocates presenting to children on the effects tobacco has on youth and adults. Up-to-date information on the adverse health effects of tobacco smoke and general information is available.

Clients Served: All Indians.

Kids Haven is a joint effort between SARC and our local city and county governments. It is a program designed to meet the needs of children who have allegedly been physically and/or sexually abused. When the child is interviewed, detectives, CPS workers and prosecutors all have the ability to observe the interview through a one-way mirror. This reduces the need for multiple interviews. Thus, the child does not need to relive the abuse multiple times to a variety of people in an assortment of settings. Offer comprehensive services to children and their non-offending family members: Child abuse is a horrific crime. Children and their non-offending family members deserve to receive services to assist them in the healing process. Benton and Franklin County Prosecuting Attorneys provide Victim Witness Coordinators to meet with the parents to explain the legal process. SARC offers support and advocacy and explains the many services we provide. Therapy referrals are also provided.

Clients Served: Children and families.

Washington WorkFirst http://www.workfirst.wa.gov/ You may confirm you eligibility and apply online at:  https://www.washingtonconnection.org/home/	WorkFirst is Washington State's temporary cash assistance program. The goals of the WorkFirst Program is to help low-income families stabilize their lives, so they can go to work and take better care of their families. Washington initiated the WorkFirst program in August 1997 to help low-income families become self-sufficient by providing training and support services necessary for parents to get a job, keep a job and move up a career ladder. Under WorkFirst, welfare assistance in Washington State is no longer an entitlement. Cash assistance is limited to a maximum of 60 months (five years) in a person's lifetime. During that time, the person must be involved in the WorkFirst program and working or actively looking for a job. However, benefits may be extended beyond 5 years for parents who continue to abide by the rules and seek work. Adults who are unable to participate will continue to receive assistance. Clients Served: Residents of Washington, either pregnant or responsible for a child under 19 years of age, a US national, citizen, legal alien, or permanent resident, have low or very low income, and be either under-employed (working for very low wages), unemployed or about to become unemployed.

This program actually combines a number of different funding sources including CSBG, Emergency Food &amp; Shelter Program, Emergency Shelter Grant (ESG), and United Way. Client applications are reviewed and approved based on a number of criteria, including funding availability, the ability to positively resolve the crisis, and other factors. Emergency Food &amp; Shelter Program still informally referred to as FEMA ESFP is a restricted federal grant. Program expenditures are limited to food, meals, shelter (motel/hotel vouchers), rent/mortgage assistance and utility assistance. Each year, needs are reassessed in an effort to adapt to community needs. We receive EFSP funds in each of the five counties, and are able to say how much we want to put towards rent/mortgage assistance and how much towards motel stays. The criteria we use is that we will provide rental assistance to individuals or families with a five-day eviction notice and verification of employment, or motel stays to Homeless individuals or families. Clients Served: Families and Individuals in crisis.

St. Vincent de Paul in Milwaukee County  9601 W. Silver Spring Dr. Milwaukee, WI Phone: (414) 462-7837	Transportation assistance, including gasoline vouchers and bus tokens.  Clients Served: All persons in need.
Couleecap  700 North 3 rd Street, Suite 202B LaCrosse, WI 54601 Phone: (608) 782-4877  http://www.couleecap.org/	Transportation Assistance Couleecap believes that the cost of transportation continues to be an issue that affects everyone. Transportation costs are the second largest household expense after housing. For many families, a reliable vehicle can be the determining factor in keeping a job or accessing more favorable employment.  Work-n-Wheels Program Provides zero interest auto loans and vehicle repair assistance to qualifying low-income households. Participants must be currently employed and need a personal vehicle to get to and from their place of employment. Participants must agree to participate in Wisconsin Rideshare when possible.  Clients Served: Low-income people and families in Crawford, La Crosse, Monroe, and Vernon counties.
